Faith That Perseveres

"I lift up my eyes to the mountains, where does my help come from? My help comes from the Lord." (Psalm 121:1-2)

We are reminded that our help, strength, and hope are not found in the things of this world, but in the Lord who watches over us without rest. God is not distant or unaware; He is our constant guardian, shielding us from harm and guiding our every step. The Lord who "neither slumbers nor sleeps" is deeply attentive to the rhythm of our lives.

In the letter to the Hebrews, we hear that "the word of God is living and active, sharper than any two-edged sword." (Hebrews 4:12) God's Word penetrates our hearts, revealing our fears, doubts, and desires. It challenges us to trust more deeply, to let go of our impatience and lean into the steady faithfulness of God.
Jesus' parable in Luke 18 teaches us to "pray always and not lose heart." The persistent widow, who refused to give up in her plea for justice, becomes a model of faith for us. Her perseverance is not just about stubbornness; it's about confidence in the goodness of God.
When we feel weary, unheard, or tempted to give up, Psalm 121 reminds us to look up, to fix our eyes not on our struggles, but on the Lord who keeps us. Prayer is not about convincing God to act but about opening our hearts to trust that He already is.

May we hold firm in prayer, strengthened by the living Word of God and comforted by the watchful presence of the Lord who never sleeps. For the One who guards our coming and going is faithful, now and forever.
