“Their eyes were opened, and they recognized Him.”

How often do we walk through life like the disciples on the road, troubled, distracted, or burdened, without realizing that Jesus Christ is already walking beside us? In the breaking of the bread, their eyes were opened. It was not in grand signs or dramatic moments, but in a simple, sacred gesture that they came to recognize Him. This reminds us that the Risen Lord is present in the ordinary, in the Eucharist, in our daily encounters, in moments of quiet grace. We, too, are invited to see with hearts awakened by faith. When we slow down, listen, and allow His Word to touch us, our eyes begin to open. And suddenly, what seemed like absence becomes presence, what felt like distance becomes closeness. May we ask for the grace this Easter season to recognize Him, in the breaking of the bread, in one another, and in the hidden moments of our lives.
